

The NECT, The NDP and You

The National Education Collaboration Trust (NECT) works collaboratively with government, business, the unions and civil society, with the end objective of actively assisting the Department of Basic Education (DBE) to achieve the educational goal set out in the National Development Plan (NDP). As such it seeks an active relationship with everyone in the education system in order to deliver a future to all learners. Beyond the role players already mentioned in this book it needs the active participation of communities, school governing bodies, school management and teachers, district staff, parents and teachers and above all learners if it is to succeed in achieving the goal below:

Committed to ensuring that 90% of learners pass mathematics, science and languages with at least 50% by 2030
